EDMONTON BULLETIN MAY 16th, 1902.

PARLIAMENT.

Ottawa, May 7, 1902.

In the railway committee this morning the Calgary and Edmonton company brought forward their amended application for an extension of their line to the boundary and for fifty-mile branches eastward from Lacombe, Westaskiwin and Strathcona. The principal amendment from their first bill was the addition of a clause providing that the bill should not be construed as reviving the land grant. Another amendment provided that the extension should be built to within half a mile of the town of Cardston within two years. The time asked for the extension onward to the boundary, some twelve miles, was five years, and the time for the northern branches was two years to commence and five years to finish. The objectionable provision as to starting the branches "at or near" the towns of Strathcona, Westaskiwin and Lacombe was retained. Mr. Kingsmill, of Toronto, solicitor for the applicants, addressed the committee at length giving the history of the company and stating its intentions.

Scott, of West Assiniboia, pointed out that although the land grant had been dropped, the excessive bonding power of twenty-five thousand dollars a mile was retained. The bonding power was as serious a matter as the land grant. The company had bonded the three hundred miles of line already constructed for about five and a half million dollars. The road had cost, according to the statement in the blue book, three and three quarters millions, so that the company had made a gain on bonds alone of one and three quarters millions of dollars for which no value had been given and yet the interest on which had to be paid out of the traffic of the road. The interest to be paid on the bonds for which no value had been given amounted to over one hundred thousand dollars a year. As the case stood the company had sold five and a half million dollars of bonds, they had received a land grant which at three dollars an acre amounted to five and a half millions more and they had received a cash subsidy of eighty thousand dollars a year for twenty years, equal to a capital of one million dollars. Adding these amounts together the road had cost the country in bonds or lands or taxes over twelve million dollars, while it had only cost the company according to their own showing three and three quarters millions dollars. He suggested that instead of asking for bonding powers of twenty-five thousand dollars per mile on the extension and branches the company should use some of their profit on the original transaction for the purpose of building the extension and branches. The people who gave traffic to the road paid the interest on the bonds, and an unnecessary issue of bonds meant an unnecessary tax upon the patrons of the road.

Oliver said that the bill had been referred back to the promoters for amendment on three points: To drop the land grant, to provide for early construction, and to protect the interests of established towns. The land grant had been dropped, but the bill was practically the same as to time of construction and protection of town sites as before. The company had been made aware at the previous meeting of the wishes of the committee; they had been given an opportunity to meet those wishes; they had not seen fit to do so; he was therefore compelled in the protection of the interests of the people most intimately affected, to vote against the bill.

It became apparent from the temper of the committee that the bill was likely to be defeated. Its supporters refused to allow the preamble to go to a vote and after their holding the committee for half an hour beyond its usual time of rising the committee rose without taking a vote. The chairman announced that as the supporters of the bill had obstructed the taking of a vote he did not feel justified in allowing the committee to adjourn without an understanding that the bill went to the bottom of the order paper so that it would not be allowed to obstruct other business. This leaves the question still unsettled and it is possible, owing to the prospect of early prorogation that the bill will not get through this session.

Ottawa, May 8, 1902.

Every effort is being made to rush the session to an early close. On the government side Sir Wilfrid is anxious that the House should close some weeks before he will be required to leave to attend the coronation ceremonies. On the opposition side the desire is to get into the Ontario elections, which are now in progress. But although there is a desire on both sides to close soon the weight of business yet to be transacted forbids the fixing of a date. Saturday was spoken of for prorogation, then Monday, and now Thursday. There is no doubt, however, that prorogation will be reached some time during the coming week. The greater part of Wednesday afternoon was occupied by a resolution proposed by A. E. McLaren, conservative of Perth, Ont., in which, after a preamble which called attention to the necessity of improving and cheapening the transport of agricultural products to the ultimate market, concluded by calling upon the government to adopt "such a policy in connection with our waterways and the ship building industry as will speedily lead to the completion of a Canadian system of both inland and ocean transport." There could be no quarrel with the wherewithals of the resolution but the conclusion does not seem to naturally follow. Railway monopoly is the principal cause of Canada's disadvantage in reaching market with her agricultural products, and this disadvantage the resolution did not touch. To enlarge or to increase the number of canals, to deepen the St. Lawrence and to bonus ship building may read all right on paper but the cost in money would certainly produce much greater results in cheapening and improving transportation if applied to the railways than to the waterways. A fairly interesting debate took place on the resolution, which was carried without serious political divisions. Naturally on behalf of the government the improvements that had been made in cold storage transportation, the enlargement of the canals and the deepening of the St. Lawrence were held to have measurably met the purpose of the resolution and established the policy of the government in its favor. Robinson, of Elgin, spoke of railway discrimination and showed a charge of twenty-eight cents per hundred pounds on live cattle from Chicago to Boston compared with a charge of thirty-three cents per hundred from a point eighty miles north of Toronto to Boston; besides, there was a rebate of $7.50 on the Chicago shipment, making a total discrimination of $11.4 per head against the cattle shipped for the shorter distance by the Canadian farmer. The opportunity was afforded for the advocates of the French River and Ottawa canal scheme to air their views. The government would not accept the resolution and it was defeated by a vote of ninety-three to forty-two.

Dr. Roddick's bill establishing a medical council for the Dominion was discussed during the evening sitting and the third reading was carried by a vote of forty-six to sixteen. The purpose which the bill is intended to serve is to provide a framework of legislation upon which the several provinces can meet in arranging for a general standing of medical practitioners to be good throughout Canada. The bill does not become effective until its provisions have been adopted by every province of the Dominion. The only objection to the bill came from a few of the Quebec members who saw in it an infringement of the exclusive right of the province to deal with matters of education. On the other hand it was pointed out that the bill did not become operative until the provincial legislature sanctioned it, therefore it could not be an infringement of provincial rights. The premier advocated the bill on the ground that medical science was of universal application and that there should be no factional restrictions to the interchanging of medical skill. The Minister of Public Works also supported the bill and the Minister of Justice. All agreed that the provisions of the bill were desirable and would be acceptable to the English-speaking provinces. The general feeling was that the Quebec members who opposed the bill as an infringement on provincial rights were taking an unjustifiably extreme view.

The supplementary estimates for the year ending June 30, 1903, are now before the House and total something over five and a half millions of dollars. There is also a further supplementary estimate for the current year ending June 30, 1902. "To pay amount of judgment of exchequer court in favor of Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann to recover them for their outlay in connection with proposed contract for a railway from Stickline river to Teslin lake, including costs and disbursements in connection with the case. $328,508." This item is a legacy from the bargain made for the construction of the Stickline-Teslin railway. Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann were given a hurry order to construct this railway. They at once made large expenditures looking to that end, but the contract was not ratified by the Senate and therefore fell through. Having made the preliminary expenditures on the authority of the government they claim the return of their money. The matter has hung fire so long; and was last year referred to a court for decision. The item in the estimates is the amount adjudged by the court as due Mackenzie and Mann.

EDMONTON RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

The swearing in of members for the Edmonton Rifle Association commenced on Tuesday last at the office of Forbes & Royal and continues every succeeding evening between the hours of 7 and 9 p. m. until further notice. It is the desire of the officers to have as many members enrolled as possible by to-night, as the list goes off by tomorrow's mail with the requisition for rifles; and the larger the roll the greater will be the number of rifles issued. Under present regulations one rifle is received for every four members and it is the intention, when the rifles come, to divide the members into squads of four, and one man in each, shall be issued a rifle for the use of his section, the care and safe return of which he shall solely be responsible for.

The only government obligations the members have to undergo will be the firing of 49 rounds (issued free) across the range at 200, 300, 500 and 600 yards, which has to be done on any two days in October, the captain may decide on, and the scores must be forwarded to the militia department; the committee shall try to get permission to have this shooting done in July or August which they think would be a more convenient date than October, for the majority of members.

Work has been already commenced in constructing a range on Great's flat, which contains a fine site 1,000 yards long, with a hill to fire into, 150 feet in height. Although rather far away, still by making suitable arrangements the committee hope to have a bus to the ground on practice days which will occur once or twice a week probably Wednesday and Saturday from 2 p. m. or so till sundown. Ammunition will be issued at the rate of 15 cents per pocket of 10 shells and an officer will be in charge each day to instruct those who may require it, and to keep such order, &c., as will be necessary. It is expected that the range will be open before the 1st July, at furthest.

Such an institution as this deserves the hearty support of every British subject not only as a national necessity, but also as a manly and health-giving sport, and the officers trust, that the present enthusiasm will animate all to join and to practice, so that the association may in every respect be second to none in the Territories.

EDMONTON EXHIBITION ASSOCIATION.

At the extraordinary general meeting of the Edmonton Industrial Exhibition Association, Limited, the following shares were represented: J. H. Gariepy, Con. Gallagher, J. A. McDougall, E. C. Emery, Thos. Bellamy, John Berg, Wm. Euston, J. McEwan, B. Aldrich, Donald Ross, Joe Hostyn, J. H. Picard, H. Sigler, J. H. Morris, J. H. Richardson, J. Ross, Mr. Morrell.

Owing to an insufficient representation of the shares of the company at this meeting a motion was passed adjourning until Tuesday, the 20th inst., at 2 o'clock; the meeting to be held in the town hall.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Supplying Coal for the Dominion Buildings," will be received at this office until Tuesday, 3rd June, 1902, for the supply of Coal for the Public Buildings throughout the Dominion.

Combined specification and form of tender can be obtained on application at this office.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied, and signed with their actual signatures. Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, made payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent of amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the party declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By Order, FRED GELINAS, Secretary.

The Time to Cut Hay

The aim of our farmers in growing forage crops is to produce from a given acre as large a quantity as possible of the digestible nutrients in a palatable form. The time at which a forage crop is harvested may affect the crop in three ways, viz: in the quantity of material harvested, in the palatability of the crop, and in the palatability of the fodder. As a general rule it has been found that the greatest amount of dry matter is secured when forage crops are allowed to fully mature and ripen. The only exception is in the case of clovers and other legumes, where the leaves rattle off and are lost, either before or during the process of curing.

It does not follow that when a plant increases in its yield of dry matter its nutritive value has proportionately increased. It is quite possible that changes in texture and composition of the dry substance may offset the greater yield. The dry matter of mature grass contains a larger proportion of crude fibre than the immature. The plant hardens in texture and becomes less palatable and digestible. It is, therefore, usually advisable to begin cutting hay early, and where there is a large crop to be gathered work should begin early in order that it be completed before the grass seeds are ripe enough to shell from the heads. The late cut hay is richer in protein than the earlier stages of growth than the fully grown or nearly mature hay. The chief with which our feeders have to contend, is the lack of protein in the ration made up of our common feeding stuffs, and they should recognize the fact that by cutting early, they can get two crops of highly nutritious fodder, where they only get one by late cutting. Cutting the first crop even before the heads are fully grown will tend to cause a vigorous new growth and in this way a good crop of rowan is secured.

The two crops are more valuable, especially for feeding dairy cows, than one mature crop on account of the increased proportion of protein. The early cut hay seems more palatable to stock, and weight for weight, more satisfactory. On the other hand, by cutting late, we secure a considerably larger quantity of carbohydrate material, which is valuable for feeding, and of crude fibre which is of low feeding value.

The dairy cows and sheep, grass should be cut early, since these animals do not relish hay that is woody and lacking in aroma, as is the case with late cut hay. Cutting is allowable, as these animals subsist mostly on concentrated feed, and they serve more as "filling," as horsemen say. An excess made by Professor Sauer, and they are fattening steers with early and late cut hay, it was found that late cut hay gave the best results. It was delayed too long the stems of the grass become tough and stringy and the seeds scatter from the heads. Such hay has little aroma and lacks palatability if not nutritious. Through an indefinite quantity, the aroma of grass has real value in rendering hay more palatable. When the sun dissipates the dew from the drying grass in the meadow, we detect the escaping aroma, because the dew in rising, carries some of it into the air. This is one reason why hay should not remain scattered over the field at night. Green colored, sweet smelling hay is the best, and prudent farmers will not overlook such seemingly small points as preserving the aroma and preventing bleaching.

New Veterinary Quarantine

Dr. Arthur G. Hopkins has recently been appointed to represent the veterinary branch of the Dominion department of agriculture, in Great Britain, with headquarters at Glasgow. His official duties will be "Veterinary Quarantine Officer for Canada," and he will assume the duties performed by the late Dr. J. G. Rutherford, now chief veterinary adviser to the department of agriculture. Dr. Hopkins, while still a young man, has had a wide experience, not only as a practical veterinarian, but also in the varied duties of lecturer, author and editor. He was graduated from Toronto veterinary college in 1891 with the degree of V. S. In 1897 he obtained his diploma in agriculture at the Ontario agricultural college, Guelph. He has also the degree of Bachelor of Science from the University of Toronto, and the degree of D. V. M. from the veterinary department of the Iowa State college, and of M. D. (post grad.) from McMillan College, Chicago.

For several years Dr. Hopkins practiced his profession in Manitoba, and was at a later date appointed instructor in animal husbandry at the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Man., with which paper he remained until called to his present duties. Dr. Hopkins is also the author of "Veterinary Elements," a manual for farmers and agricultural students, which has been accorded high praise by leading authorities as a treatise of great value to every man who has stock under his hand. Dr. Hopkins leaves immediately for Great Britain in order to be prepared for this season's importations of live stock. His address until the close of his tour on the St. Lawrence will be 52 St. Enoch Square, Glasgow, Scotland. The certificates issued by him will be accepted by the United States authorities in the same way, as were those issued by Dr. Rutherford last season.

THE RIP VAN WINKLE CO.'Y.

Last evening the Rip Van Winkle Co. completed a four nights engagement in town. They played under the able direction of Lloyd P. Joy, the strong feature of the show being represented by Bert O. Wood.

Monday evening Irving's renowned Rip Van Winkle was shown to a large assembly. The play throughout was amusing, typical and clever and the audiences thoroughly appreciated the opportunity of getting a better acquaintance with Rip's strange experiences.

Tuesday evening, "Lost in London," was shown. Though the ending was rather sad yet it was offset by the beauty and grandness of the final moments of touching pathos. It was here that Mr. Wood and Miss Dot Roster proved themselves to have more than ordinary skill on the stage.

Wednesday night, "The Embassy Ball," was well received while last night was distinctly a laughing night, when "A New York Banker" was shown.

Specialties were introduced between acts, perhaps the best being Miss Roster's "Rainbow Dance." The large turnouts for four consecutive nights speaks well for the company. They will appear in Strathcona to-night and to-morrow night, the title play, "Rip Van Winkle," being shown to-night. It should draw a large crowd.

STAR.

Seeding will soon be a thing of the past.

We are pleased to be able to state that Mrs. Hackett, Sr., who has been seriously ill for some time, is convalescing. Sickness has been very general throughout the settlement this spring but mostly all are now on a fair way to recovery.

The government's surveyors have been engaged during the past week surveying the road approaching Star from the west. It has been found necessary to leave the road allowance, owing to the many bridges which would be required in order to follow it.

A meeting of those interested in baseball was held last Saturday at Alex. Swan's at a club was organized. There will be practice every Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, commencing at 2 p. m. The club fee was fixed at fifty cents. Alex. Swan was appointed captain and R. Swan secretary-treasurer.

The new school in the Bloomfield district was opened on May 1st. The services of Miss Wallis, of Partridge Hill, have been secured as teacher, for the current year.

Methodist services will be held in the school commencing next Sunday at 7 p. m.

The meeting in the interests of Mr. J. W. Shera, which was to be held last Wednesday, has been postponed until Friday, May 16th. The meeting is to be held at the school house.

May 10, 1902.

BEAVER HILLS.

A very enjoyable time was spent at a school social at Deep Creek school on Arbor day, May 9. An interesting programme was prepared. The teacher, Miss L. V. Doze, deserves great praise in training her pupils so well, as it was their first attempt. The chair was occupied by Lillie Hare.

There is an abundant supply of fish to be had in Deep Creek. The first that have ever been seen in that creek and everyone will be pleased when fishing season commences.

Seeding is well advanced in this part and a week or so will wind it up.

I BEAVER LAKE EAST.

Lots of ice in the lake yet. It won't be clear for some time. The water is almost as high as in 1882.

Seeding is progressing rapidly, the weather lately having been very favorable, though there has been little growth.

It seems the local government will put a bridge over Beaver Creek right away. It is much needed for the water is higher even than last year.

The trustees of Beaver lake school district have decided to purchase the necessary equipment for the school. This is as it should be.

A communion service was held in the Presbyterian church on the 4th inst., Rev. W. O. Rothney conducted it.

A meeting to organize a baseball club was held in the school house on the 7th.

Melville Dunham's friends here were glad to learn that he had got back all right from town, after more than three weeks absence. He had been ill with pneumonia while away.

Joe McCallum raised his building, to be used as store and dwelling, a while since, and is now busy completing it.

LACOMBE.

A very enthusiastic political meeting was held here last night in favor of P. Talbot. A little opposition is being canvassed in favor of a Mr. Moore, from Red Deer but he can hardly expect the same support as a man who has been a resident so many years. Mr. Talbot has added much to our country in every respect as a private citizen and we know from his characteristics he will in every way make a very suitable representative. Messrs. Greene, Brumpton, Geer and Moore were present from Red Deer and were recommending that our representative would build two more bridges over the Red Deer and if he would consent to do this he would have their unanimous support.

A new bakery has been started on Nanton street by a Mr. Mossir.

Mr. Mauseette has completed his new residence.

The little daughter of P. Talbot had the misfortune to get her leg broken very badly. She is doing as well as can be expected.

Mrs. G. Sharpe, Sr., who has been spending the winter in Lacombe left on the 27th for Victoria, B. C.

Rip Van Winkle company favored us with a play in the opera house last night and will give another to-night.

B. Y. Williams has been seriously ill but is now slowly improving.

We were much pleased to see that H. Y. Hagth and C. Laidman, two former residents, have won the election prize at Wesley College, Winnipeg. C. Laidman has two brothers located in the Lacombe district.

The roads are in a very bad condition at present.

NOMINATIONS.

At the nominations for the constituencies of East and West Calgary held on Saturday, May 10th, the following gentlemen were chosen:

East Calgary.

J. J. Young, H. Macleod and James Reilly.

West Calgary.

R. B. Bennett and Thos. Riley.

CARDSTON.

At the convention held on the 6th of May, a resolution was adopted as follows:

"We endorse the Territorial government in its administrative policy, and commend the same for its honesty, efficiency and economy. We pledge our nominees to the support of the government in its endeavor to procure provincial status from the Dominion government, on the lines laid down in their negotiations for the same.

"We oppose the division of the Territories into more than one province and thus give our full support to the administration.

"We deprecate the action of some who in their zeal for political honors have any desire to oppose the present government, when it is manifest we have been so well favored in the expenditure of public funds.

"Therefore we pledge our nominees to the unswerving support of the present government and the delegates pledge themselves to support the nominees of this convention for our representative in the Territorial Assembly.

"We also pledge our nominees to work incessantly for all local improvements, which will tend to the welfare and advancement of our rapidly growing community."

Captain Bernier and the Pole.

The following interesting article on Arctic research appears in a recent issue of the Manitoba Free Press. It is of considerable local interest because the leader of the expedition, now being organized and equipped, is a Canadian, and Canada is likely to contribute the major part of the funds required; the sum of $100,000 having been mentioned by the premier as the possible contribution:

Ever since Nansen got as near the North Pole as the distance from Brandon to Moose Jaw, no authority on Arctic exploration has doubted that the Pole is attainable. It is a question mainly of a masterful leader, who knows what he is about, plenty of dogs and three square meals a day. It is doubtful if there has ever before been as much money invested in Polar expeditions, except during the search for Sir John Franklin, as there is at the present time; and it will not be at all surprising if within the next few years that long inaccessible point, the northern apex of the world, is reached. There is ground for the hope that the flag to be planted there will be the British flag, and that its planter will be a Canadian, namely the experienced and intrepid Arctic explorer, Captain J. E. Bernier, of Quebec, who is so anxious to make good Lord Dufferin's well-known declaration that the North Pole is part of the Dominion.

Every Canadian will join with Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Borden in desiring that Captain Bernier deserves every encouragement in aspiring to gain, for Canada and the Empire, the honor of discovering the Pole. The Pole itself is of no special value, but the attaining of it will be the means of arriving at information of great value to science. Until that information is secured there can never be complete understanding of the meteorology of the world. There may also be revealed many manifestations of nature the study of which is the serious forces of electricity. It has been by slow degrees, the history of which is deeply interesting, that the knowledge which man possesses to-day of the Polar regions has been gained. The greatest secret of those regions yet found out is the fact, as far as we know, that there is a flow from one hemisphere to the other, which carries with it the vast ice-field. Nansen's voyage in the Fram proved that by entering the ice from the Siberian side, a vessel will be drifted down to the east of Greenland.

The first Arctic explorer who had an inkling of this movement of the ice was Peary. McClure, McIntosh and others were strongly inclined to the same view, but still the question was not understood. It was reserved for Sir George Nares's expedition to explain the whole story. On the one side are the great rivers of Siberia pouring their waters into the unknown sea on their side, and the Gulf stream flowing up; and on the other side the prodigious accumulations of piled-up ice which all the explorers have described. The drift from one side to the other across the Polar ocean is now a matter of established knowledge. The drift from the ice proposes to do is to enter the ice a good deal nearer to Behring Straits and so to drift across that vast unknown ocean on the edge of a line considerably north of that along which the ice-capped spot which is the north end of the axis on which this globe of ours revolves.

Captain Bernier's plan, as he described it in a paper read at a meeting of the Royal Colonial Institute in London last year, is to enter Behring Straits in July, with a specially built vessel of about three hundred tons. Guided by the experience of De Long, Nansen, Nordenskjöld, Toll, Markham and others, he is confident that he can gain the Pole. Following the coast of Siberia, he will enter the ice between 170 and 165 degrees east, as its state may permit. Monthly balloon messages, each containing copies of all records in former expeditions will be dispatched; so that the world at large will have news of the expedition. Scientific observations will, of course, be taken and a complete record of the expedition in the form of photographs will also be secured. Kites being used for long range photography. In the second spring and summer the dogs, which are the horses of the Arctic, will be depended upon; though, of course, the expedition will carry several boats, one in sections in case the ship should be lost, and the others small and portable for crossing openings. "We would make two different routes," Captain Bernier explained to the distinguished assemblage which listened to him at the Royal Colonial Institute, "one in the northeast direction and the other in a southwest direction, with stations at different places, so that we can keep in communication with the ship with wireless telegraphy, and gun-signals when weather permits. The route will be staffed, the staff will be hollow and provisions, each containing a number and a record, so that the passage of each party will be recorded. At the fifty miles station, soundings and weather records will be taken at intervals, and other observations will be made. When in the neighborhood of the Pole the northeast route will be extended to one or two more stations, as we may require, always keeping in communication with the ship and the stations. In this way I think we can reach 90 degrees north with certainty." As Mr. Charlton explained in parliament the other day, not only would the sledge parties be in constant wireless communication with the ship, but the ship would be in constant communication with Dawson City.

Meanwhile the vast Arctic ice pack is ever on the move, and what Captain Bernier has planned to do, others may be beforehand in doing, notably Peary and Baldwin. With the up-to-date methods and equipment for Arctic expedition, the Pole will surely be discovered before this new century is much older. By right the discoverer should be a Canadian.

Deaths in St. Vincent.

Castries Island of St. Lucia, British West Indies, May 13. It is announced in advices received here this morning from the Island of St. Vincent, British West Indies, that 1,000 persons have perished there since Soufriere volcano has been in eruption.

A CHILD BURNED TO DEATH.

A terrible and heartrending accident occurred yesterday afternoon, resulting in the death of the three-year-old son of George Pratt, engineer at Cushing's mill.

From the details, which are most distressing, as far as can be learned, it appears that Mrs. Pratt, the mother of the child, and her boy had been out walking. On returning to their home, in rear of Mr. H. Hockley's residence, the little fellow, evidently feeling fatigued, asked to go upstairs to have a sleep. Soon after Mrs. Pratt, who was outside the back door, thought she heard a noise. She immediately re-entered the house and going upstairs found the room in flames. Her cries brought Mr. Storey, who was working across the room. As soon as he found his way up to the room, he saw nothing but smoke and flame and immediately noticed some object fall forward. This was the boy, his clothes all on fire. Storey at once proceeded to strip off the garments and carried the boy downstairs. Seeing that little fellow could do nothing for the victim, he turned his attention to the room. Fortunately another man was already on the scene with a pail of water. The fire was extinguished and an exploded coal oil lamp discovered. The inference is that the child himself, alone, the child lit the lamp which, from some cause, caused an explosion, enveloping the boy with fire and rendering him helpless. This unfortunate occurrence took place about 5 p. m. and the little sufferer breathed his last at 7:30. Immediately after the accident Dr. McInnis was in attendance, but nothing could be done as the little fellow was fairly roasted alive. As might be expected the mother was beside herself and fairly distracted with grief.

Not the least distressing feature connected with this sad event is the absence from home of Mr. Pratt. He, not feeling well for some time, had gone to the river, with a friend, for an outing.

Many kind friends and neighbors were at hand to render every possible assistance to the bereaved mother, who has the sympathy of the whole community.

Mr. Storey in his humane efforts to remove the clothing, got his left hand badly burned.

A test had been sent up the river for Mr. Pratt, who will probably reach town at once. The funeral took place this afternoon.

BODY OF JOE RABASCOW FOUND.

Between 8 and 9 o'clock last night, while some of the employees at Fraser's mill were working on the boom, one of them, (Wm. Carruthers) saw a body floating like a log in the river. He drew the attention of James Golding, who was within reach with a pole pole. On catching the object it proved to be the body of a man. Mr. D. R. Fraser, hearing the men talking about the body, also took a pole and went to assist. The body was taken ashore and the N. W. M. P. Police were notified by telephone. The coroner, (Dr. Braithwaite), was notified and he proceeded with all haste to the mill. A jury was at once empaneled, who, having gone through the usual formalities, viewed the body in the presence of the police and others. The body was identified as that of Joe Rabascow by White, the interpreter, who was well acquainted with the deceased.

The coroner and jury then returned to D. R. Fraser's office, where the witnesses were duly examined, and the facts as above were brought out in detail.

Corporal McClellan produced the description of the clothing and the finger ring as given by Rabascow's father. This corroborated the evidence of White.

The jury by their foreman, Alvin Fraser, after a short deliberation, returned the verdict. "That the body found is that of Joe Rabascow, who came to his death by drowning."

It will be remembered that the deceased, in company with his brother, left home about the middle of April, to cross the river to Calder's and had not since been heard of. The ice at the time was very unsafe for crossing, it was therefore concluded that both men had been drowned. There is still no trace of the brother.

GYMNASTICS AT THE INSTITUTE.

A competition was held last night between the members of the Edmonton Young Men's Institute. There was a good attendance and the exhibition was very successful.

About a dozen members had been attending the classes, but, owing to the limited space, only four took part in the competition. The events comprised dumb bell, parallel and horizontal bar exercises. D. Sibbald scored 269 points; J. G. Walker 268; A. Johnson 265 and H. Crowder 255. A. Johnson is deserving of special mention for his selected exercise on the horizontal bar.

The first prize, a silver cup donated by Mr. Vernon Barford, was won by D. Sibbald and the second prize, a silver match box, was taken by J. G. Walker.

J. A. McDougall, who kindly presented the prizes, congratulated the recipients and encouraged them to further efforts.

W. Hencher, the instructor, is deserving of great praise for the way he has brought on the members, the more so as his services are given gratuitously.

The Institute is in a flourishing condition and has now 38 members, but during the summer months little attention is paid to gymnastics, especially after the long winters of this climate. Dumb bell, bar exercises and other amusements being more attractive.

SUPREME COURT.

Wm. Calder appeared, charged with stealing a watch. Mr. MacDonald, the crown prosecutor, put in a plea for leniency on account of previously having a good character as regards honesty. Making this into consideration, his lordship decided to release the prisoner pending him in the sum of $200, to appear at any time, within the space of two years, if called on to receive sentence.

Frank Whitford, charged with horse stealing at Beattie river, was sentenced to three years in the Manitoba penitentiary.

A. Harrison was brought up this morning charged with setting out poison. He elected to be tried by jury and will come up for trial on Thursday next.

SECOND MEETING IN NAMAO.

At the meeting of the electors held yesterday at Namao, there were about forty present. Mr. Geo. Sutherland, the chair. The speakers were Messrs. C. Gallagher and Horwood, who addressed the meeting on behalf of Mr. Secord. From the general tone of the meeting the feeling appeared to be pretty much evenly divided.

Frost in Eastern Canada.

St. Catharines, May 11.—The peach and grape crop of this portion of the Niagara district was almost entirely ruined by the heavy frost last night. Trees and vines were far advanced and had given every promise of a heavy crop for the coming season. Peaches and plums, being later, are not so badly injured, but this class of fruit will also be very scarce. All tomato and other plants that had been set out were ruined and in some cases those in the cold frames were frozen.

Montreal, May 10.—Reports from all parts of the province of Quebec, Eastern Ontario and northern New York, state that the fruit trees and all early grain and vegetation suffered severe damage from frost last night. From five to twenty degrees of frost are reported in different sections and considerable snow fell. It was the severest cold wave known for many years. In the city parks ice formed around the fountains, giving everything a late fall appearance.

Kingston, Ont., May 10.—The thermometer registered 10 degrees below freezing last night. Such a cold snap has never been experienced in 23 years. All plants outside were greatly injured.
